

Zachary Dougherty, PharmD, MS
PGY2 Emergency Medicine Pharmacy Resident

Education: The Ohio State University

About Me: I am originally from Columbus, OH and attended The Ohio State University for my bachelor's, master's, and PharmD degrees. I recently completed my Acute Care PGY1 at University of Iowa Health Care. I am excited to continue my training in Emergency Medicine at UofL Health. Learning at an Academic Medical Center gives me a robust variety of experiences to help make me the best pharmacist I can be. I love the opportunity to work with great EM providers learn alongside them. The preceptors at UofL Health are supportive and great mentors which makes UofL a great practice environment. My current practice interests include trauma resuscitation, ACLS, neurologic emergencies, and substance use disorders. I also have a passion for teaching and precepting and love interacting with learners of all kinds. Outside of pharmacy I enjoy live music, exploring new breweries, taking walks with my dog, and spending time with my co-residents!

Ellie Gantenbein, PharmD
PGY2 Internal Medicine Pharmacy Resident

Education: University of Tennessee College of Pharmacy

About Me: I am originally from Carthage, TN, and attended Tennessee Technological University for my pre-requisites. I received my B.S. in Pharmaceutical Sciences in 2021, my M.S. in Instruction and Curriculum Leadership in 2022, and my PharmD in 2023. I was drawn to UofL because of the fantastic people I met during the recruitment process and the opportunities to work in an academic setting. My interest areas include cirrhosis, transitions of care, anticoagulation, heart failure, pain management, and academia. UofL allows for so much growth in each of those areas, and it is evident that the preceptors are dedicated to my development. Outside of pharmacy, I enjoy cheering on the Volunteers (Go Vols!), spending time with my dog, and exploring Louisville with my co-residents.

Megan Locklier, PharmD
PGY2 Ambulatory Care Pharmacy Resident

Education: Doctor of Pharmacy - University of Cincinnati James L. Winkle College of Pharmacy; Bachelor of Science - Clemson University

About Me: I am originally from Lexington, South Carolina and completed my undergraduate degree at Clemson University. I moved to Cincinnati, OH for pharmacy school where I obtained my PharmD. The opportunity to work in a variety of specialty clinics with a diverse patient population as well as the distinctive structure of this program made UofL Health's community-based residency program stand out to me. I was impressed by this organization's dedication to its patients as well as its staff. I am excited to continue my pharmacy training at a renowned academic health center like UofL Health which places such high value on research, teaching, and patient care. After completing my PGY-1 residency training at UofL Health, I am excited to be continuing my training at this institution as the PGY-2 ambulatory care pharmacy resident. My current interest areas include neuroimmunology, specialty pharmacy, and pharmacy administration. Outside of pharmacy, I love to read, spend time with my dog Henry and my fiancé, and travel to visit my friends.

Madi Milby, PharmD
PGY2 Infectious Diseases Pharmacy Resident

Education: University of Findlay College of Pharmacy

About Me: I am originally from Indianapolis, Indiana, but attended pharmacy school at the University of Findlay in northern Ohio. I was initially interested in pursuing post-graduate training at UofL Health because of the incredibly supportive preceptors as well as the variety of rotational opportunities in my areas of interest. UofL Health provided me with an exceptional PGY1 experience and certainly prepared me well to complete a PGY2 in infectious diseases. My clinical interest areas include antimicrobial pharmacokinetics and dosing in RRT/ECMO, antimicrobial prophylaxis in high-risk populations, and multi-drug-resistant organisms. Outside of the hospital, I enjoy exploring Louisville with my co-residents, reading, and trying new recipes!

Mikaela Rhodes, PharmD
PGY2 Critical Care Pharmacy Resident

Education: East Tennessee State University

About Me: I am originally from Barbourville, KY and completed my undergraduate degree at Eastern Kentucky University. I attended pharmacy school at East Tennessee State University. When searching for a residency program, I was drawn to UofL because of their diverse number of rotation offerings, opportunities to practice at both a community hospital and academic medical center, and the opportunity practice at a Level I Trauma Center. My experiences at UofL Health as a PGY1 and the amazing group of preceptors made my decision to stay for PGY2 an easy one! My current practice interests include sepsis and shock management, ARDS, rapid sequence intubation, and intracranial hemorrhage. Outside of pharmacy, I enjoy working out at Orange Theory, cheering on the Kentucky Wildcats, and baking!

Paige Robertson, PharmD
PGY2 Oncology Pharmacy Resident

Education: University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy

About Me: I am originally from Crestwood, Kentucky and attended Western Kentucky University for my pre-pharmacy coursework before moving to Lexington, Kentucky for pharmacy school. I graduated from the University of Kentucky College of Pharmacy with my PharmD in 2023. While looking for PGY1 programs, I was immediately drawn to UofL Health's residency program due to the wide variety of clinical rotations available. The ability to practice in an academic medical center under highly trained preceptors while having constant support and encouragement made for a great experience as a PGY1 resident at UofL. All of these factors made it a very easy decision for me to stay, as I am now continuing my experience as a PGY2 resident in oncology. Outside of residency, I enjoy traveling, going to the lake, working out, going to concerts, and playing volleyball.

Cecilia Schowe, PharmD, MS
PGY2 Emergency Medicine Pharmacy Resident

Education: Manchester University College of Pharmacy

About Me: I am originally from Fort Wayne, IN and completed my pharmacy pre-requisites at Purdue Fort Wayne and then attended Manchester University College of Pharmacy where I earned my pharmacy degree and master's degree in pharmacogenomics. When looking for a residency program, I knew I wanted to train at an academic medical center and level I trauma center that would provide me with a challenging yet well rounded experience. What drew me to UofL Health specifically was the variety of rotation opportunities, supportive preceptors, and ability to prepare me for a PGY2 in my area of interest. I recently completed my PGY1 residency year at UofL and am excited to continue my training as a PGY2 in emergency medicine. My current practice interests include toxicology, trauma/resuscitation, ACLS, and anticoagulation reversal. Outside of residency I enjoy going to concerts, trying new restaurants, and spending time with friends and family.
